IMMUNE

Methyl-FX supports the body's ability to methylate at the cellular level, a reaction that needs to occur constantly in every cell. Methylation reactions, important for the metabolism of homocysteine, a potent marker of inflammation, by providing targeted nutrients and cofactors, such as trimethylglycine at 550 mg and MSM, important methyl "donors". This formula includes the antioxidant vitamins C and E, as well as high-potency riboflavin, vitamin B6, folate, and vitamin B12.
